Vinod Chandrashekhar Dixit -lance Journalist, Writer & (dixitpatrakar@yahoo.in)

14th November is observed as World Diabetes Day every year that was first created in 1991 by the International Diabetes Foundation and the World Health Organization. Understanding diabetes is the first step towards managing and preventing it. Diabetes has and preventing it. Diabetes has now become a major public health concern especially in India because of several reasons. Today, over 300 million people live with diabetes. A similar number is at high risk. Diabetes is a major health issue in our country. One of the important barriers in handling this issue is the change in behaviour of the people and awareness on the importance of lifestyle the importance of lifestyle modification. Diabetes makes people prone to heart disease, kidney faillure and infectious diseases like tuberculosis, malaria, and HIV/AIDS, among others, leading to premature death. Sugar is the new tobacco, experts, medical studies and health organizations have declared. The belief is that diabetes is an urban and rich man's disease but we now know that the annual increase in the disease but we now know that the annual increase in the numbers of those with diabetes is much higher in the rural areas, poor individuals and those less educated. Diabetes isn't deadly, it just needs regular monitoring and medication and disciplined living. It is a major cause of blindness, kidney failure, heart attack, stroke and lower limb amputation. Healthy diet, physical activity and avoiding and high sugar levels. tobacco use can prevent or Excessive urine, thirst and delay type 2 diabetes. In hunger, unexplained weight addition diabetes can be treated and its consequences avoided or delayed with avoided or delayed with medication, regular screening and treatment for complications. Regular exercise and healthy eating are the only ways to control blood sugar levels and stay fit. Diabetes is not a disease but metabolic. are the only ways to control blood sugar levels and stay fit. diabetes require ongoing care and support to manage their a metabolic disorder condition and avoid Acceptance of the problem is the first step to dealing with the blabetes Foundation of it. We need to take to heart the statement that "strengthening primary care is imperative." This is true of including the prevalent and enduring aliments. Many patients think that mere changes in food habits and taking alternative therapy can control diabetes but that's impossible. Lifesty leadore value of food but are unaware of the utaking insulin leads to formation of ulcers, infections diagnosing and treating loss and ratigue are some or the common symptoms. All of these occur due to insulin deficiency. 100 years after the discovery of insulin, millions of people with diabetes around the world cannot access the care they need. People with diabetes require ongoing care and sunport to manage their diabetes in society and people Several institutes have initiated in-service programmes to enhance the knowledge, skills enhance the knowledge, skills and core competencies of primary care physicians to eliver standardised care. We need to work collaboratively with governments, civil society, private sectors, schools, workplaces, media and other local partners. We all have a cole to play to prour bealthier local partners. We all have a role to play to ensure healthier environment for a healthy living. Walking is perhaps the simplest and the most effective way to maintain one's health, and for diabetics to manage the chronic disease as it doesn't require any training of doesn't require any training or special equipment, which means it can be done without a break. Living with diabetes may not be easy but it isn't impossible either. A few lifestyle and dietary changes is all it takes to keep the disease in control. Sri Lanka uprising: A new social contract

July, as a month in the modern history of Sri Lanka, and a different meaning altogether until July 9, 2022. Previously, it either brought back dark memories of the 1983 July pogrom against Tamils or the ethnically and politically divided sentiments of the blood-stained end of the civil war between the Sri Lankan government and the LTTE in July 2002. However, July 9, 2022, now appears as a moment that victoriously marked a new civic beginning marked a new civic beginning a moment that victoriously marked a new dvic beginning of the history of the island nation. I must say it was not an exaggeration to name it the republic day of Sri Lanka as many have done in the social media. As far as the unbelievable number of people who occupied the streets of Colombo are concerned, it is reasonable to raise the recurring question again, how did this happen. To my knowledge, answers to again, how did this happen. To my knowledge, answers to this question would inevitably contain ideologically biased perspectives, but the incidents unfolding since March 2022 tell the story themselves. Only a small number of urban people, mainly from the middle and lower-middle

Only a small number or urban people, mainly from the middle and lower-middle class, gathered in their localities to silently protest, against the shortage of fuel, gas, milk powder and power cuts, in general, against the government for making their quotidian lives miserable. Most of the time, the protests were self-declared with no organisational structure. People simply gathered at the site when a random person posted on social media that he or she would stand in a specific place and time. Soon, it turned out to be a trend, though not very popular, on specific pacter ain time. Soon, it turned out to be a trend, though not very popular, on the way back after work, some people stopped at those protests in solidarity and vehicles passing by honked to show their support. The numbers of people, as well as demonstrations, gradually increased, and on March 31, a silent protest near the president's private residence quickly changed into wild yelling. Angry crowds attempted breaking barricades, and the clash between riot police and the people clearly indicated the slogans on gas, fuel and power cuts now noticeably altered not only to mark the failure of the president and the government but also to demand that President Gotabaya Rajapaksa "go home". When the government invoked the state of emergency in the afternation for a demonstration near the president's private residence, for the first time in the country, people openly breached the curfew. Meanwhile, a post was shared calling for one million people to assemble at Colombo, Galle Face on April 9, which paved the way to occupy the space, including the main gate of the presidential secretariat, and gradually set up makeshift facilities such as a community kitchen, toilets and washrooms, a medical centre and media centre, citizens' assembly, library, cinema, open-air theatre, art studio, open mic spaces, public university, children's activity centre, etc. It was clearly visible that the thousands of people who had gathered were not the usual participants at political rallies or protests; they comprised people from all the classes, ethnic, religious, gender, age (the majority were young) and lifestyle categories, but few represented political institutions such as parties, trade unions or organisations. As a participant of the April 9

WESTERN RAILWAY CORRIGENDUM

As a participant of the April 9 demonstrations, I noticed that people's political aspirations now had developed from a government change to a system change. Although the cocupied space was named as Gotagogama (Gota go Village), the proper name of the president, Gotabaya, seemed to contain many meanings, such as the end of corruption, ethnic and religious harmony, abolition of executive presidency, a new
